UNRELATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX RETURN

If you receive more than $1,000 annually in gross receipts from a regular trade or business you may be subject to Unrelated Business Income Tax and required to file Form 990-T, Exempt Organization Business Income Tax Return. Special rules for organizations exempt under sections 501(c)(7), (9), (17) and (19) are described in Publication 598.

There are several exceptions to the tax on unrelated business income.

1. Income you receive from the performance of your exempt activity is not unrelated business income.

2. Income from fundraisers conducted by volunteer workers, or where donated merchandise is sold, is not unrelated business income.

3. Income from routine investments such as certificates of deposit, savings accounts, or stock dividends is usually not unrelated business income.

There are special rules for income derived from real estate or other investments purchased with borrowed funds. This income is called "debt financed" income. For additional information regarding unrelated business income tax see Publication 598, Tax on Unrelated Business Income of Exempt Organizations, or call our toll free number shown above.

PUBLIC INSPECTION OF APPLICATION AND INFORMATION RETURN

You are required to make your annual information return, Form 990 or Form 990-EZ, available for public inspection for three years after the later of the due date of the return, or the date the return is filed. You are also required to make available for public inspection your exemption application, any supporting documents, and your exemption letter. Copies of these documents are also required to be provided to any individual upon written or in person request without charge other than reasonable fees for copying and postage. You may fulfill this requirement by placing these documents on the Internet. Penalties may be imposed for failure to comply with these requirements. security taxes imposed under the Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA).
You are required to withhold Federal income tax from your employee's wages and you are required to pay FICA on each employee who is paid more than $100 in wages during a calendar year. To know how much income tax to withhold, you should have a Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, on file for each employee.

You are also liable for tax under the Federal Unemployment Tax (FUTA) for each employee you pay $50 or more during a calendar quarter if, during the current or preceding calendar year, you had one or more employees at any time in each of 20 calendar weeks or you paid wages of $1,500 or more in any calendar quarter.

Employment taxes are reported on Form 941, Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax employment taxes are explained in Circular E, Employer's Tax Guide, (Publication 15), and Employer's Supplemental Tax Guide, (Publication 15-A).

* Chemical Security & Toxics: The group spends about 15% of it’s time evaluating and promoting better security around chemical plants and refineries, a greater public right to know about toxic chemicals in products and the environment, and a fully funded national Superfund law.

* Clean Air: The group spends about 10% of its time working to reduce mercury emissions from power plants, smog and soot in urban and rural areas of the U.S., as well as better air quality in the nation’s National Park System.

Additional Information Requested

1. Activities Conducted by the Organization

   In Part II (1) of form 1024, Environment America provided a detailed narrative of its program areas and specific campaigns that it will conduct. While the narrative stated that the organization is "currently working" on the activities, this refers to the fact that Environment America will be taking over activities that were begun by another tax-exempt organization, United States Public Interest Research Group ("USPIRG"). (This was noted in Part II (4) of form 1024.) Environment America does not currently employ anyone and therefore has not yet taken over the activities listed in Part II (1) of form 1024 from USPIRG staff. When Environment America hires staff, before the summer, (see section 2 below), its own staff will continue the work of USPIRG as described in Part II (1).

   Specifically, Environment America will have program activities in the following primary areas: lands and ocean preservation and protection; promoting global warming and clean energy solutions; chemical security and toxics; clean air; clean water; and polluter pork (anti-environmental programs subsidized by government funds). Because these program areas will focus on federal environmental policies, much of the organization's work will take place in Washington, D.C. Nevertheless, its work will have national impact. As such, public education and outreach will be conducted nationally by circulating organizational newsletters and policy reports as well as through the activities of field staff who will build organizational support throughout the country. Public distribution of its newsletters and reports, as well as other information pertinent to the organization's work, will be done in a variety of ways - via emails to its subscribers, via member newsletters, via press conferences and via postings on its website.

   In addition to developing and distributing research and analysis of federal policy, the organization will attempt to build public support for its programs in a variety of ways. For example, the organization will lobby federal legislators and policymakers. Sometimes this will involve cold calling legislators to request meetings whereby the organization's staff can educate these decision-makers about the environmental impacts of certain policies. Sometimes this will involve sending people door-to-door to talk to members of the public and ask them to send postcards or sign petitions urging their legislators to adopt better environmental policies. Such citizen outreach may be done by the organization's own staff or through joint efforts with other non-profit organizations that may have a better infrastructure or experience in conducting outreach campaigns. In addition to lobbying and advocacy, the organization may reach out to industry to encourage them to voluntarily adopt positive environmental policies. The organization will also seek to participate in coalitions of other tax-exempt organizations who share common interests and goals.
2. Compensation to Governing Board and/or Employees

In Part II (3)(a) of form 1024, Environment America stated that "none of the Board members get any compensation for their work on the Board and none of them are currently employed by the organization." As such no members of the Board of Directors receive compensation from the organization.

Environment America does not currently have any employees and therefore does not currently pay compensation to anyone. The organization is planning on hiring staff before the summer of 2007. Environment America may employ staff members who have been working on the environmental agenda carried on by USPIRG, which Environment America will be taking over and therefore Environment America will benefit from employing experienced staff.

Specifically, the organization will seek to hire an executive director, approximately 6 to 8 advocates, field staff, communications staff, and administrative staff, all of whom will work full-time. While the organization’s hiring needs have not yet been finalized, qualifications and duties for these staff positions will likely be as follows:

Executive Director:

(a) Job Duties:

The Executive Director will be the driving force behind the organization’s campaigns to protect the environment and building the organization. More specifically, job duties include the following:

- Operations: Oversee the day to day functioning of the organization. Develop and maintain annual operating budget, and ensure all fiscal responsibilities of the organization are met.

- Fundraising: Develop and implement fundraising plans, including building and maintaining relationships with foundations and major donors, grant writing and identifying new funding sources.

- Campaign Management: Coordinate all aspects of the organization’s campaigns. Work with staff to create winning tactics. Formulate and implement strategies to build support for the organization’s agenda through coalition-building, grassroots organizing, media publicity, endorsements and message development. Lobby officials on environmental policies. Represent the organization to coalition partners, legislators, policy makers, the media and the public.

- Staff Management: Recruit, hire and train staff. Serve as a resource for all members of the organization.

(b) Qualifications:

The successful candidate must be a goal-driven and results-oriented individual with passion and persistence who is committed to preserving the environment, someone with leadership skills and initiative, and the verbal and written skills necessary to make the case that protecting the environment must be a top priority. Candidates should have 8 or more years of relevant professional experience, post-college, including (but not limited to) work in political, policy, legal, journalistic or government settings. Advanced degrees, including a JD or masters in related fields, may count toward a candidate’s professional experience.

Advocates:

(a) Job Duties:

- Research and Policy Development: Responsible for initiating and conducting research making the case for protecting the environment, including documenting threats, crafting policy solutions, developing legislation, and issuing research reports.
- Campaign strategy: Responsible for developing winning campaign plans that include framing and message development, public education, grassroots organizing, direct lobbying, coalition-building, research, and media coverage.

• A team orientation that combines collegiality and creativity to drive and motivate others;
• An outstanding work ethic and an entrepreneurial mindset;
• The ability to speak persuasively;
• The ability to think of creative and strategic ways to protect the environment.

The organization will seek advocacy staff with differing degrees of experience, ranging from senior advocates who may have 8+ years to more junior advocates with 4+ years of experience.

Field Staff:

(a) Job Duties:

Regional Field Organizers will be working to build support for the organization’s issues in their designated areas of the country. Specifically, Regional Field Organizers will:
• Build a political network: build coalitions with local, state, and national environmental organizations, identify and mobilize concerned citizens, and reach out to new constituencies to build the organization’s base of support in the region.
• Generate media attention and build public awareness: organize at least one major news conference per month, meet with editorial boards and reporters throughout the region, conduct TV and radio interviews, and generate opinion editorials and letters to the editor.

The information that serves as the basis for the compensation and its source will be recorded. The Board of Directors will vote to approve the organization’s budget, which includes the amount of compensation paid by the organization. As the board members receive no compensation for their work as board members, in the event that a board member is also a paid employee, the interested board member will recuse him- or herself from a vote determining his/her salary. In the event that a board member is a relative of a paid staff member, that board member will recuse him- or herself from a vote determining the salary to be paid to his/her relative.
